

Job Description: Mechanical Engineer Offer

Manufacturer of innovative fuel cell power generation systems and integration of electric power packs on lithium technology, highly integrated systems for the automotive and industrial sector urgently seeks a mechanical engineer with experience in the automotive field for the 3D cad development of assemblies and put on the table of highly integrated electro-mechanical parts.

The person will be supported and guided by our technicians during the initial stages. Self-employed professionals are sought to immediately establish initial collaboration or a resource aimed at hiring. The automotive experience is fundamental with skills in highly integrated mechanical systems. Interesting compensation and commensurate with the professional's level of experience. This announcement is addressed to both genders, pursuant to laws 903/77 and 125/91, and to people of all ages and all nationalities, pursuant to legislative decrees 215/03 and 216/03.

Please share your application e-mail with your Curriculum Vitae to admin@arco-fc.com

